Christian Church in Zhangjiagang City

Archetype team - 19/04/2024

The new Christian church for the Science and Technology Eco-City of Zhangjiagang will be a reference point for the local community and a place that “glues” its people together. The design of the church is organized on a simple and innovative principle that offers both efficiency as well as unique formal and spatial qualities. Having in mind that architecture has both a spiritual and a physical dimension, the new church will be a place that lifts the spirits but also orchestrates all the various programs in a functional unity.
